O Harry, O Harry, you mind what I do say,
My feet they are so tender I cannot march away,
And besides, my dearest Harry, though I'm in love with thee,
How am I fit for cruel wars in High Germany?

I'll buy for you a horse, my love, and on it you shall ride,
And all my heart's delight shall be riding by your side;
We'll call at every ale-house, and drink when we are dry,
So quickly on the road, my Love, we'll marry by and by.

O curs-ed were cruel wars that ever they should rise
And out of merry England press many a lad likewise!
They pressed young Harry from me, likewise my brothers three
And sent them to the war, my love, in High Germany.
