

The Maid of Lodi

A favorite ballad with an Accompaniment for the Harp or Pianoforte

Traditional ballad

William Shield

Andante Moderato

Voice

Pianoforte

4

9

I sing the Maid of Lo-di who sweet-ly sung to me Whose brows were ne - ver

14

clou-dy nor e'er dis-tent with glee she val - ues not the weal-thy Un-

%

19

Repeat from here

less they're great and good For she is strong and heal-thy and by la-bour earns her

25

%

food

2

And when her day's work's over,
Around a cheerful fire
She sings or rests contented -
What more can man desire?
Let those who squander millions
Review her happy lot,
They'll find their proud pavillions
Far inferior to her cot.

4

Then to her market basket
She tied her poney's rein -
I thus by female courage,
Was dragg'd to life again,
She led me to her dwelling
She cheer'd my heart with wine,
And then she deck'd a table,
At which the Gods might dine.

3

Between the Po and Parma,
Some Villains seiz'd my Coach;
And dragg'd me to a Cavern
Most dreadful to approach
By which the Maid of Lodi
Came trotting from the fair
She paus'd to hear my wailings
And see me tear my hair.

5

Among the mild Madonnas
Her features you may find
But not the fam'd Correggios
Could ever paint her mind;
Then sing the Maid of Lodi,
Who sweetly sang to me!
And when this Maid is married,
Still happier may she be.