

5. The Call

Murdoch Maclean

Charles Villiers Stanford

Allegro

Voice

1. Oh! it's home, it's home, and
2. I can hear the voi - ces

Piano

mf

4

on - ly in its bo - som would I lie, For I'm sore of heart and call - ing From the home - land night and day, And their whis - pers soft - ly

7

lone - ly 'Mid the crowds that pass me by, And I fall - ing Bid my yearn - ing soul o - bey, So I'll long to hear the hail - ing of the kind - ly fish - ers sail - ing Where the leave the teem - ing ci - ty, with its lack of hu - man pi - ty, And take o - cean winds are wail - ing up in Skye. _____

up a tramp - ing dit - ty, and a - way. _____

I am wea - ry of the striv - ing Af - ter
I will take my tar - tan plaid - ie And will for - tune's flit - ting smile, With the great man's cru - el driv - ing And the seek the moor - land brown, When the moon is shin - ing stea - dy, And the poor man's hope-less toil, And I'd be with her who bore me, with the stars are peep-ing down, With no part - ing look be - hind me lest the clouds of hea - ven o'er me, And the drift - ing sea be - fad - ing scenes re - mind me, Of the care that used to 24

18

21

- fore me in the Kyle. 3. By the bind me in the town.

27

crys - tal foun-tains Mid the low - land vales — ca - ress'd, O'er the 30

mea - dows and the moun-tains Shall my steps pur-sue their quest, Thro' Strath-

33

- more and up Glen - gar - ry, past Loch Eil and Ach - na - car - ry, Till at length in peace they tar - ry in the West. _____

35

38

Oh! it's hard and scarred and lone - ly That cold is-land in the foam, And its

41

cresc.

sons know man - hood on - ly That their ea - ger feet may roam, Yet its cresc.

43

p mem - 'ries still are near - est and its fall-ing whis-pers clear-est, And to me it's ev - er dear - est, for it's home.

p

47

p

52

f